

Calling all golfers!

There is a Monday, February 1 meeting with Jack Rose and the new Peacock Gap management team at 6 p.m., at the clubhouse, upper level. This meeting is open to all interested community members and particularly all former Peacock Gap members. Jack Rose, President of Coldwell Banker's Commercial Metro Central unit, heads a group of Arizona-based real estate investors who have stepped into the Peacock Gap bankruptcy picture. Mr. Rose is in the process of arranging interim financing, equity investment, and debt workout arrangements intended to get The Gap back on a sound financial basis. Come to the meeting if you can, ask whatever questions you need answered, listen to what they have to say, and then make your own informed decision.

Democracy in action, right Gappers? See you there.

Contributed by William Braznell