

"Sing Hallelujah, come on get happy! We're headin' for the promised land!"

More Peacock Gap News

Ran into Ray Sayufy and friends on the first tee Sunday morning. What a pleasure to see "The Boss" enjoying the fruits of his company's labors.

Mr. S passed on two quick notes before our respective teams got down to the serious business of golf:

1. Hallelujah! The last of our major Phase I projects, completion of the new Range Building pro shop, bar, and grill will begin next week--the week of July 25. And did we tell you it would have indoor and an outdoor (patio) fireplaces? And indoor-outdoor seating for approximately 100 diners? We did? Worth repeating.

2. We have a new Goose Guy, a young Border Collie named Sammy. Trained in goosemanship and other ganderly pursuits, fit and just about ready to be unleashed on the happy hordes of herbivores hanging out around the sixth and seventeenth water holes, this newest addition to Peacock Gap's Canine Corps is positively panting to get on with his new career. Step lively, Sammy, watch what you're doing, and keep your paws clean. It's a jungle out there.
